CYCLING CHAT.

The Bicycle Boys' Contest of a Grand Meet Saturday.

The members of the Decatur Cycling Club and their scores of friends are very confident that the next Saturday meet will be the grandest ever held in this section of the state. The races will be hotly contested and it is not at all improbable that a record or so will be made, especially in this liable to happen in the Class B races. Several tandem teams, Cabanne and Brown and Johnson and Goetz, will go against the state record.

Blue and old gold, the Decatur club's colors, will be the prevailing colors on Saturday, not only from their tent but will be worn very liberally by the ladies in the grand stand.

Russells' Comedians.

Next Friday night at the Opera House "Russells' Comedians" will inaugurate a new musical farce comedy, in three acts entitled "A Review."

For seven years this organization has stood pre-eminent among the farceurs of this country. The ensemble for the present season consists of Wm. Mack, Davis Warfield, John Jennings, Harold Blake, Jas. Sullivan, John Donohoe, Joe Jackson, Mrs. Margaret Fitzpatrick, Nichols Sisters, the Misses, Madeline Lack, Jessie Ralph, Amy Stewart and the premier American danceuse Miss Amelia Glover. "A Review" is described as being built on legitimate lines, quick of action, humorous in complication and effect, and constantly brimming over with bright, sparkling, catchy music. The third act is an innovation in this style of performance from the fact that it deals mainly with the more serious dramatic successes of the day from a humorous standpoint. The musical selections are all thoroughly new and include the brightest gems that are now most popular in London and Paris. During the play farcical skits upon Othello, Romeo and Juliet, Camille, and The Girl I Left Behind Me, are introduced. The story is woven around a wealthy gold-mine-owning widow anxious to shine in society and ambitious to trade her wealth for the coronet of a British Duke who turns out to be bogus.

McKINLEY.

ACRES OF PEOPLE SEE AND HEAR THE NEXT PRESIDENT.

Gov. McKinley.

Delegations Attend from all Parts of the State—The League Meeting.

Major McKinley and the Republicans captured Springfield yesterday and Altgeld made it convenient to go off to Chicago where he could find congenial company. In another column will be found a telegraphic account of the McKinley reception, together with a synopsis of the remarks of the distinguished champion of America and the protective policy.

The streets for hours were crowded with people to hear the Major, who spoke from a platform at the state house. It was a jostle and push to get near the speaker and many could not get near enough to see him. It was a great demonstration.

STATE LEAGUE.

At the meeting of the Republican State League there was a large representation of organized clubs. These officers were chosen: C. W. Raymond of Watseka, President; J. A. Russell of Jacksonville, Secretary; R. Little of Bloomington, First Assistant Secretary; J. Lynch, Jr., of Olney, Second Assistant Secretary. Vice Presidents for all districts were elected. For the Seventeenth, William Barrett Ridgley, Springfield; Richard Latham, Lincoln; J. Abraham, Taylorville; W. T. Patterson, Decatur; J. H. Stone, Menard county. The same gentlemen for the 17th were elected members of the executive committee.

Republican Meeting.

F. X. Schoonmaker, of New Jersey, who will address the people of Decatur at the tabernacle Monday evening, is conceded to be the clearest exponent of the tariff in the United States. He makes a speech as a wise business man does business, dispassionately, but logically. His audience never leaves him. They never tire of the way he puts his subject, and when he finishes his speech the whole audience is convinced that protection is the only policy suitable to the conditions of our country if we want prosperity. Everybody should hear Mr. Schoonmaker. The lady or gentleman who fails to attend this meeting will feel disappointed when he or she hears the neighbor tell how plainly and entertainingly the speaker put the great question of American protection.

An Insult to the Germans.

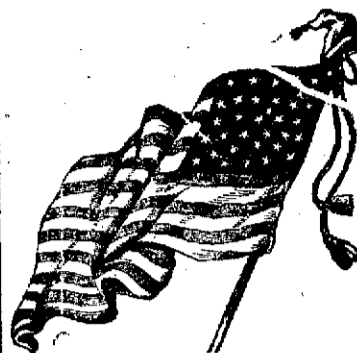

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—In to day's issue of the Review appeared an article that is an insult to every respectable German in the city. Simply because the citizens of the east end did not turn out in large numbers at a recent Democratic rally the Review editor would have us believe that they are a lot of "beer drinking Dutch," who would rather get drunk than go to hear the sophistries of Springer. If the aim attendance at Democratic rallies in this state is due to the amount of beer used, what a terrible lot of "flushing" is going on. Very truly, the Review editor is short on campaign material and in a surly mood when he offers such an insult to intelligent Germans.

Register Tuesday.

Next Tuesday, October 16, is registration day. Every voter should bear this in mind and see to it that his name goes upon the registry list. The women also who are entitled to vote should see that their names are put on the registry list. Register to save time on election day. On that day, unless you are registered, you cannot vote without swearing in your vote and that takes time. Register, then, men and women, next Tuesday. The books will be open at the usual polling places in the precincts.

REPUBLICAN MEETINGS.

MAJOR J. A. CONNOLLY IN THE COUNTY.

The Macon county Republican central committee have arranged meetings as follows for Major J. A. Connolly, Republican nominee for Congress in the Seventeenth district:

Mr. Zion—Thursday evening Oct. 11.
Blue Mound—Friday evening, Oct. 12.

Other Meetings.

In addition to the above appointments for Major Connolly, the local committee has secured the following speakers on the dates named:

Monday evening, Oct. 15—Hon. F. X. Schoonmaker, of New Jersey, at the Tabernacle.

Monday evening, Oct. 22—Col. A. C. Matthews of Pittsfield and Hon. J. E. Sharrock, at the Tabernacle.

Monday evening, Oct. 29—Hon. Shelby M. Cullom and Hon. W. G. Cochran, at the Tabernacle.

CONNOLLY AT MACON.

The Tabernacle Not Big Enough to Hold the Crowd—Old Time Enthusiasm.

There is no uncertainty about the result of the Republican campaign in Macon. The outpouring of people which greeted Major Connolly last night in the Macon tabernacle or local hall proved this. As an old warrior remarked "it seems unnecessary for the Republicans this year to hold meetings, and they only do it because it is a time honored custom."

The Macon people have heretofore found their hall large enough to accommodate all the people who desire to attend meetings but last night additional room was badly needed. Before 7:30 every seat was occupied and the aisles began to fill. Still the people came from far and near and the room was packed. There was hardly standing room by eight o'clock and still the rattle of wheels on the outside told of the arrival of farmers from the outlying districts.

Major Connolly was introduced by R. H. Woodcock in a neat speech and then gave way to the orator of the evening, who delivered a ringing speech, tracing the history of the two parties and portraying the condition of affairs under Republican and Democratic administrations. He was given the closest attention and was frequently interrupted by applause.

Among the hearers were several old-time Democrats who gave the closest attention and gave pronounced signs of approval when a telling point was made. W. L. Hammer, candidate for County Judge, was present and circulated among the voters.

Major Connolly will speak to-night at Mt. Zion.

CLINTON has a candidate for congress who is thoroughly alive in this campaign. Mayor Magill and Maj. Warner chartered a train and took 800 people to the McKinley meeting at Springfield, where they saw and heard the next president of the United States, if the people have their way about it.

THE Decatur Review tells us there were only 800 by actual count in the procession at the Springfield McKinley meeting. Well, suppose that were true. McKinley is a very small man, officially, when compared with the vice president of the United States, and yet 800 are more than Vice President Stevenson and William M. Springer had at their meeting at Lincoln all told.

When Phil Sheridan made his ride at Cedar Creek and passed through fragments of what seemed an utterly routed army streaming along the pike toward the rear, he came upon a young major who was encouraging the soldiers to turn and again face the foe. Being inquired of by the General as to the condition of the army, the young major replied that the army was in condition to turn the defeat into a magnificent victory. That young man was Major Wm. McKinley, of Ohio, and Phil Sheridan, in his memoirs, says that he was encouraged to make a fight to retrieve the lost fortunes of his army by the coolness and courage of that young officer. McKinley shows the same spirit to-day. The defeats of 1890 and 1892 he accepted philosophically, but continued to stand and encourage men to again face the foe when other leaders faltered. His courage was intelligently anchored; the lines are again being reformed; the flags and banners are again raised to the breeze of impending battle, and everything portends that the Republican party will recover its old camp amid the shouts of the people.

Learning by Experience.

Some of the best arguments in support of protection are given by men who have learned its value by the experience of the past eighteen months of Democratic power. One of these men, Charles A. Morrill, a large tea merchant in Chicago, who is a lifelong Democrat, and who heretofore was a strong advocate of free trade, in giving his reasons why he cannot, in justice to himself and the business interests of the country, longer conscientiously support the Democratic party says:

When we look back over the thirty years of prosperity enjoyed by all classes of people engaged in business under Republican rule and undertake to compare them with present conditions, I cannot for the life of me see how any sensible man of Democratic proclivities can do otherwise than give his support to the party of protection and common sense. I have always been a Democrat, was a war Democrat, and served three years in the army as a member of the 11th Maine regiment, but I have stood this Democratic administration of affairs just as long as I can. Under it our business has gone to pieces; manufacturers are idle, thousands of workmen have been out of employment so long that few of them have anything left to live on; country merchants are not buying goods because they have no market for them. Consequently trade is frightfully demoralized. As I am an American and want to see American industries built up and maintained, and as I know that to be the policy of the Republican party I concluded it was time for me to change my politics. Nothing else than the tinkering with the silver question and the tariff down at Washington has brought about the worst stagnation we have ever had, and the longer that party is kept in power the longer will this country be in getting back to where it was up to the day President Harrison left the White House. Other business men feel just as I do in this regard. Democratic politicians may try to fool the people, as they did two years ago, with arguments different from those I use, but facts are stubborn things, and this time we have the facts before us. I used to think I was a free trader, but I have discovered the fallacy of my views on that subject and can tell you that where there were ten men who thought they wanted a tariff for revenue only a few years ago there is not one now. We want the tariff that will protect our manufacturing and other industries and give good wages to workmen. Without this it is folly to talk about keeping up the high scales of wages that have prevailed ever since the Republican party first came into power and started the country off on a career of prosperity and industrial development, such as no other portion of the world ever witnessed. We hear there is some revival in business since the Wilson bill became a law. To some extent there is, but not more than the actual necessities of life demand. Trade had been dead for fifteen months. Merchants were running out of supplies and had to replenish, but they are not going in heavily. Our house has not made any money since the panic set in. We had to let some of our best men go because there was nothing for them to do. These are some of the many reasons why I have become a Republican and propose to remain one.

Tells the Story.

At the political demonstration Monday in Anderson, Ind., where there are extensive glassworks, there were 400 glass workers, all voters, in line. They carried several banners on which were painted the following declaration: "No More Democratic Times for Us; a 22 1/2 per cent. Cut in Our Wages Tells Our Good Democratic Times' Experience."

When William M. Springer spoke in Decatur, among his other demagogical utterances, he told the workmen they could keep up wages by labor organizations. There is no stronger labor organization than that of the glass workers, but that organization could not prevent a reduction of 22 1/2 per cent in wages forced by the Democratic tariff bill. Mr. Springer knows, and every other man knows, unless he is so much a saphead as to be disqualified to cast a ballot intelligently, that no employer can be forced to pay more for wages than he can afford to pay. With the lessons before them, at present on the boards, the laboring man who can vote the Democratic ticket, and thus vote against his own interests, is entitled to the sympathy of every intelligent man. For surely such a man deserves sympathy instead of condemnation.

Gaynor's Withdrawal.

New York World (Dem): Judge Gaynor has done what was expected of him. No one who read his letter to the state convention delegates believing it to be the utterance of an honest and sincere man could really have expected him to accept the nomination for Judge of the Court of Appeals. Only his delay in publishing his decision could have given color to the claim that he would remain on the ticket after his letter had been ignored and his friends turned out of the convention. Judge Gaynor hopes that his withdrawal will not hurt the ticket or imperil Senator Hill's success. But facts must be faced. It is a staggering blow at the outset of a campaign whose prospects were not too brilliant at best.

Gresham the Champion Blunderer
Boston Journal: Recent letters from Boston make it plain that Secretary Gresham's gratuitous and ill-mannered assertions that Japan was waging an unjust war on Corea has occasioned deep resentment. Secretary Gresham, all things considered, is perhaps the champion blunderer of the administration.

COMING in from the races last evening Peter Cassidy, of Loxi, while in the act of paying fare, dropped a $20 bill, which one of a party of three grabbed. The party fled, and Peter Briley and Officer Mutherspaugh gave chase, capturing G. W. Fleming and a man named McDonald. One man got away. The money could not be found. The parties arrested were put in jail.

THE Calhoun Opera Company presented "The Black Hussar" at the Grand last night before a large and appreciative audience. It is a strong company with good actors and singers, elegant costumes, a fair orchestra and a complement of stage accessories. The march of the Hussars was splendidly done. The living pictures were a feature of the entertainment which took well. The light effects were magnificent, grandly beautiful. The company went to Quincy this morning.

Bloomington Building Association People are Startled.

HOW THE MONEY WENT.

Estimated that it Will Require from Two and a Half to Five Years for Final Settlement.

BLOOMINGTON, ILL., Oct. 9.—E. E. Gore, of the auditor's office, was here last night and had an important conference with the investigating committee appointed by the shareholders of the National Building and Loan Association of Bloomington. This committee, representing 5,000 stockholders, was made defendant in the application for a receiver made by the officers of the association before Judge Sample on the night of October 2.

The committee of investigation made a sensational report to the stockholders. The report said that the developments showed a rotten state of affairs in the management of the Illinois Building and Loan Association. It was estimated that the concern would not pay 50 cents on the dollar, that it would require two years and a half at the least possible computation, providing times should become unusually bright, for a receiver to close out the business, and in all probability five would be required.

It is alleged that nearly all the officers of the association had drawn out their stock several months ago; that the treasurer, W. W. Stevenson, had taken out 109 shares and that from secretary to bellboy each one had saved himself, some not waiting for the thirty days' notice.

It was alleged that in one month Dr. E. Munson, who was secretary of the association while Hon. Owen Scott was in Congress, had drawn out $2,525. Out of that it was stated that he was to pay 10 per cent. to Judge Tipton. It was alleged that Owen Scott had drawn $200 a month while in Congress. It was also alleged that May J. Dr. Munson and all the members of his family, who were in Europe at the time, had given notice of withdrawal, although nothing shows that they had received their money. It was reported that Judge T. P. Tipton, of the McLean Circuit Court, president of the association, had received a check monthly for stock that the association was carrying for him, and that some time ago he withdrew $2,000 on account of that stock out of the association. The loans had been made, it is claimed, on property of a most desirable kind, and Treasurer W. W. Stevenson received, it was asserted, $3,500 annual salary and $15 for each loan he made.

The developments showed, it was declared, that in many cases, when stock was purchased, the amount of quarterly dues necessary to be paid in for the years while that stock was maturing was at once taken out, that while the purchaser was paying into the association, all of it was credited up to the quarterly dues and raked into the official pockets; and that when that was paid the remainder was credited to him as payment on stock. It was reported that the treasurer had failed to receive all the money belonging to the loan fund, and that the fees so called were gobbled by the secretary. There was some talk of criminal proceedings against the officials, and this feeling grew more general as the meeting progressed.

Two Parties.

William M. Latham was 76 years old yesterday, and his friends reminded him of that fact by gathering in force at his home, 818 North Water street, yesterday evening. The time was pleasantly spent in card playing and social converse. Supper was served at a seasonable hour. One of the pleasant events of the evening was the presentation of a large chair to Mr. Latham by the employees of the Wayne Sulkyette company. Those present were: Messrs. F. H. Wood, A. G. McWhirter, L. C. Kaufman, Dr. L. M. Leo, E. S. Spencer, B. Crawford, T. C. McIntire, Jacob S. Wayne and their wives; Misses Mattie Randall, Alice Stebbins; Mesdames Chronister, Teasdale and Anna Landale, and Messrs. Walter Wayne, Will Wood, William Logan, D. H. Eberly and Andy Johns.

The home of John Ward, two miles south of the city, was the scene of a gay gathering last night the occasion being a surprise on Miss Ward in honor of her 18th birthday. The affair was gotten up by Will and Ollie Trippen and Ollie Reed. The feature of the evening was a dance in the big barn. Music was furnished by Charles Davidson and Toney Foster on the violin accompanied by Miss Anna Cross on the organ. There were a large number of guests present and all had a most enjoyable time.

COUPID'S CAPERS.

Wedding of Arthur Flood and Miss Effie Hanes—Other Events.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hanes was the scene of a most charming home wedding last evening. It was the marriage of their elder daughter, Miss Effie, to Arthur Flood. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. W. C. Miller, pastor of the Congregational church. The wedding march was played by the mandolin orchestra. The attendants were Miss Lillian Hanes, the bride's sister, and Dr. T. S. Childs. The bride was attired in a handsome gown of white satin and mulle and carried a bunch of bride's roses. The maid of honor wore a cream mulle dress and carried red roses. The house was decorated with palms and potted plants. Supper was served to about seventy-five guests in the diningroom, which was decorated in white and yellow. The bride received some very handsome wedding presents. Mr. and Mrs. Flood left on the midnight train for Chicago where the groom is in business and where they will reside. The groom is well known in Decatur, as he formerly lived here. The bride is a young lady who is highly esteemed by a large circle of friends.

Charles A. Trueblood, of Kokomo, Indiana, and Miss Madge Smith, of Decatur, were married yesterday morning at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. George Anthony, No. 322 North Water street. Rev. R. G. Hobbs, pastor of Grace M. E. church, was the officiating clergyman. The couple will reside in Kokomo, Ind.

The marriage of John R. Howell and Miss Grace E. Toney occurred at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at the home of the bride's father in La Place. Elder R. E. Howell, the groom's brother, officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Howell left on the noon train for Chicago to spend a few days. They will make their home at Burrowsville, Ill.

Coming Monday.

Billy Cleveland ran away from his minstrel show one night in New York. It is not often that William does such a thing as that, but he wanted to see if Henry E. Abbey's opera was as good as his own. The Metropolitan Opera house was packed, and it was such an audience as would delight any manager, even if he could not himself handle the receipts. Every manager likes to see the public "give up." When the curtain fell, Cleveland glanced at the swells in the boxes; he was rather shocked at the way the ladies dressed, or rather undressed. A friend at his elbow, remarked: "Bill, hear them women chatter, they are telling each other all they know." Yes, returned the minstrel, "and a lot they don't know. I can see from here that they are making a clean breast of everything." Cleveland's Minstrels in conjunction with the renowned Billy Emerson and 30 other well known people will appear at the Grand Monday, Oct. 15.

Republican Rally.

There will be a Republican meeting at the Town Hall, Casner, on Monday evening, October 15, 1894. The meeting will be addressed by Hon. W. G. Cochran, Republican nominee for the House of Representatives. Mr. Cochran is an entertaining speaker and a good attendance is expected.

Afternoon Reception.

Mrs. V. H. Parke, assisted by Mrs. J. R. Race and Mrs. V. C. Hatch, gave a most enjoyable reception yesterday at her home on West William street. The entertainment was a six-hand euchre party and the ladies enjoyed an interesting game. The prize was a large bunch of pink carnations, and was won by Miss Bellum, of Ansonia, Conn. The young ladies who assisted in the dining-room were Misses Luetta Ulrich, Jennie Chambers, Eva Caldwell and Gussie Gorin. The house was exquisitely decorated, pink carnations, roses and dahlias being used with great taste. At the close of the game a dainty supper was served on the card tables.

JUDGE CASE, ISA BELLE

Winners in the Pace and Trot at the Fall Races.

The Meeting will Close Friday with Three Events—Bicycle Contests for Fine Prizes.

A sharp, cutting wind from the northwest blew steadily all yesterday afternoon and made it anything but comfortable at the race track for the second day of the meeting. The crowd was not large. Quite a number of ladies came out. The band took the center of the grand stand to escape the wind and the timers—D. W. Brennonman, C. P. Housum and T. A. Powers—fled to the reporters' stand.

In the 221 pace it was a contest between Judge Case and Harry Wood nearly every heat, and lady Anderson, the Decatur horse, did well every heat to the half. She was in fast company and could not stay. Shuloh did fairly well. He is a fine looking horse and has good action.

In the 219 trot it was Isa Belle's race from the start. Her stride is great. The only horse that you will see at the finish was the old stager, Huxham, who has an original way of getting around that is a terror to the drivers of honest trotting horses. The summaries are as follows:

TO BE FURTHER TESTED.

Another Carnegie Armor Plate to be Proved at the Indian Head Ground.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Capt. Sampson, chief of the bureau of ordnance, navy department, has decided to test a second plate before accepting the 300 tons of four, six and eight-inch armor represented by the plate tested last week. The plate tested as representing this group barely passed, and Capt. Sampson is of the opinion that it does not fairly represent the group, being the poorest plate of the group that the government inspector could find. He does not want to accept the group upon the slight margin showed by the first plate, and has instructed the inspector at the Carnegie works to select another plate and ship it to the Indian Head proving ground. The time of the test has not been decided upon.

An interesting test is expected to take place next week—that of a 17-inch plate representing the barbettes armor of the Oregon. This plate has been shipped from the Carnegie works to Indian Head, and if it can be placed in position will be fired at some day next week.

Used to It.

The amateur photographer is as common on the ocean steamers as in the streets of Boston. A Boston girl who took her camera to Europe with her last summer one day saw the firstmate standing on the bridge, making a very imposing figure, and remarked to her companion: "Oh, I must have a picture of him. I wonder if he'll let me." Catching up the camera, she ran across the deck and called up to him: "Please stand still a moment. I want to snap you." Instantly the officer struck a magnificent attitude with one arm extended, as if giving an order. She snapped. The lookers-on shouted with laughter, and some one remarked: "Oh, you've been there before!" "Every trip," came down the answer. —Boston Journal.

We confidently assert that no house outside of Chicago begins to show the assortment of High Grade Carpets, Wiltons, Axminster, Moquettes, Velvets and Brussels as ourselves and for immediate delivery. No waiting with bare floors two, three or four weeks for "goods to arrive."

THE WAR IN THE EAST

The Report of the Fall of Che Foo

NOT CONFIRMED AT THE LEGATIONS

Of China or Japan in Washington—The News Discredited by the Former and Believed by the Latter—Broken China.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Neither the Chinese nor the Japanese legation has yet been notified by its government of the reported capture of Che Foo. The correctness of the report is doubted at the Chinese legation. It is said by the Chinese officials that Che Foo is strongly fortified, and that a very considerable Chinese army is stationed there. They say it would require a large force to capture the place, and they certainly would be notified if a battle of any importance had been fought.

It is not the policy of the Pekin government to notify the diplomatic representatives in foreign countries of the progress of the war. The only official notification the legation has received since the commencement of hostilities was that a formal declaration of war had been made against Japan. This information was laid before the secretary of state, and nothing further has been received from the foreign office.

The Chinese officials think there is no question that the ultimate destination of the Japanese army is Pekin. They are not disposed to believe, however, that the enemy's troops will be successful in reaching the Chinese capital. The winter begins early in the northern provinces, and the Japanese, they say, will encounter great difficulties in their march across the country. They ridicule the suggestion that the Chinese emperor will remain in Pekin to fall a prisoner into the hands of the Japanese, even though the latter should be successful in capturing Pekin. Nor are they dismayed by the series of victories which have followed the Japanese invasion of China. The loss of Pekin, they say, would by no means end the war. Each successive victory by the Japanese only causes a more deep-seated hostility to the invaders, and in the end, they say, the troops of the yellow dragon will triumph. Japan has succeeded thus far because of the superior organization of the army, but the Chinese troops are rapidly getting on a war footing, and the result of this will be a more determined resistance on their part.

At the Japanese legation it is believed that the dispatches announcing the fall of Che Foo are correct. If the city has been captured without a battle, the legation is not likely to be notified. But if a serious conflict has occurred, full particulars will soon be received.

The Japanese minister says that the mere fact that Che Foo is a treaty port will not prevent troops of his country from occupying it. According to the terms of international law, a belligerent force may blockade, or if need be, bombard a treaty port with forty-eight hours' notification. At the beginning of hostilities the English government requested that Shanghai should be regarded as neutral territory, because of the vast British interests located there. To this request Japan consented, but this is the only condition made by the Japanese government with any foreign power regarding the neutrality of Chinese cities.

BROKEN CHINA.

The Forces of the Celestials as Clay in the Hands of Their Enemies.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—A dispatch from Shanghai to the Central News says that although the Chinese government has plenty of men at its disposal, there is a total lack of modern arms for their use. This deficiency, the dispatch asserts, the Germans are endeavoring to supply. Many of the Chinese soldiers recently sent to the front have been armed only with jingales and bows and arrows.

The families of the customs officials at Pekin are arriving at Shanghai by every steamer.

A high official in the service of the government recently reported that the Chinese fleet which has been operating against the Japanese squadron is powerless to cope with the enemy, and in fact, is not of the slightest use as a means of offense or defense.

A Skirmish Near the River Yalu.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—A dispatch to the Star from Shanghai says the Japanese and Chinese outposts had a skirmish on October 9, north of Yalu river.

The Japanese across the river reported that 45,000 Japanese troops had landed at Shanghai-Kwan, at the entrance of the gulf of Liauh-Tong, and cut all the telegraph wires.

The report that the Japanese had landed in force at New-Chwang is unconfirmed.

A Sudden and Unexplained Suicide.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The foreign office was, yesterday afternoon, the scene of a tragedy which created great excitement in the precincts of that department. Mr. H. Henderson, British consul at Cadix, who was in London on leave of absence, and who had called at the foreign office in the course of business, suddenly drew a revolver and shot himself in the head, dying in a few minutes. Mr. Henderson's motive for taking his life is unknown.

The Entombed Miners Not Yet Found.

SHAMONK, Pa., Oct. 10.—The entombed miners in the Burlington mines have not yet been found. Two violent gas explosions occurred in the mine this morning, the shock being felt on the surface one mile distant. No rescuing party has been able to penetrate the workings since early yesterday morning.

Other views, new and interesting, will be shown.

Rev. C. Galeener will explain the views of the Black Hills, and Prof. Gastman will give an edifying talk on the living objects.

SUCCESSFUL VOCALIST.

Miss Mary B. Weaver Charnas, a Chicago Audience.

Many Decatur people will remember Miss Mary B. Weaver, who sang in Decatur some three years ago in the Baptist choir and at a few private entertainments, and who left Decatur to continue her studies, which she did in Philadelphia and Chicago. In addition to her studies she traveled for a year with the Chicago Ladies' Quartette, but is now engaged at a good round salary to sing in the choir of an Englewood Baptist church. A friend of Miss Weaver has written that she attended a musical given by Miss Weaver at Normal Park Baptist church, 70th street, Chicago. She says Miss Weaver scored a great hit, taking the house by storm. The audience was large, and so completely was it in sympathy with the singer that when the program was executed the people refused to leave until Miss Weaver appeared again and again. They literally showered her with roses. Miss Weaver's many friends in Decatur will be pleased to hear of her success.

The Famous Comedians.

An event that should attract more than ordinary interest will occur at the Grand on Friday, October 12, the occasion being the appearance of Russell's comedians, in an entirely new farcical conception, entitled "The Review." The name, "Russell's Comedians," has always stood pre-eminent among all organizations of its kind, and for the past five years has been a synonym for extreme excellence. The ensemble of artists constituting the company has ever been the best that could be gathered together for the presentation of the farce, and the present organization is claimed to maintain the standard of merit which has made their title famous.

Church of God Election.

The Church of God held their annual election and business meeting Wednesday night when the following officers were elected: John S. Boyer, A. J. Fisher and J. P. Winebrenner, Elders; A. C. Smith, W. L. Huff and Geo. W. Lyon, Deacons; John C. Good, John Werner and A. Ford, Trustees; W. L. Huff, Treasurer. The report of the trustees was very favorable, showing that while the expenses for improvements have been quite extensive, all have been met, and the church is comparatively out of debt.
